

KERR, RUSSELL AND WEBER, PLC
ATTORNEYS AND COUNSELORS

Antitrust and Trade Regulation

With more than a half century of involvement in antitrust and trade regulation, Kerr, Russell and Weber offers considerable depth of expertise in this area.

Over the years, KRW has offered counsel, business planning and litigation services to a diverse array of clients facing private or governmental claims.

- KRW's trial experience includes all aspects of civil and criminal antitrust litigation, Federal Trade Commission enforcement actions and criminal antitrust matters. We routinely represent clients in federal and state civil antitrust cases, including class actions, grand jury investigations and Federal Trade Commission investigations.
- Hart-Scott-Rodino pre-merger notification requirements can often delay the merger and acquisition plans of corporate clients. KRW will analyze the antitrust aspects of the proposed business transactions and is experienced in dealing with the mountain of paperwork involved in filing reports with the Justice Department and Federal Trade Commission. We can help move the process along in line with the client's scheduled plans.
- KRW assists clients in establishing antitrust compliance programs and procedures. KRW also counsels clients on the antitrust implications of many business transactions and issues, including distribution, dealer relations, and pricing.
